How to lead in a changing world:
Reflections from the Front Line

WELL  BE IT.

"It's not you it's me"

"Just kidding, it's totally you."

Try this:

Ask a brave
question

Try this:
Be classy

I must be a superhero to be good enough

I failed to be a superhero today

I am not good enough

NOVINOPHOBIA:

Fear of running out of wine

Try this:

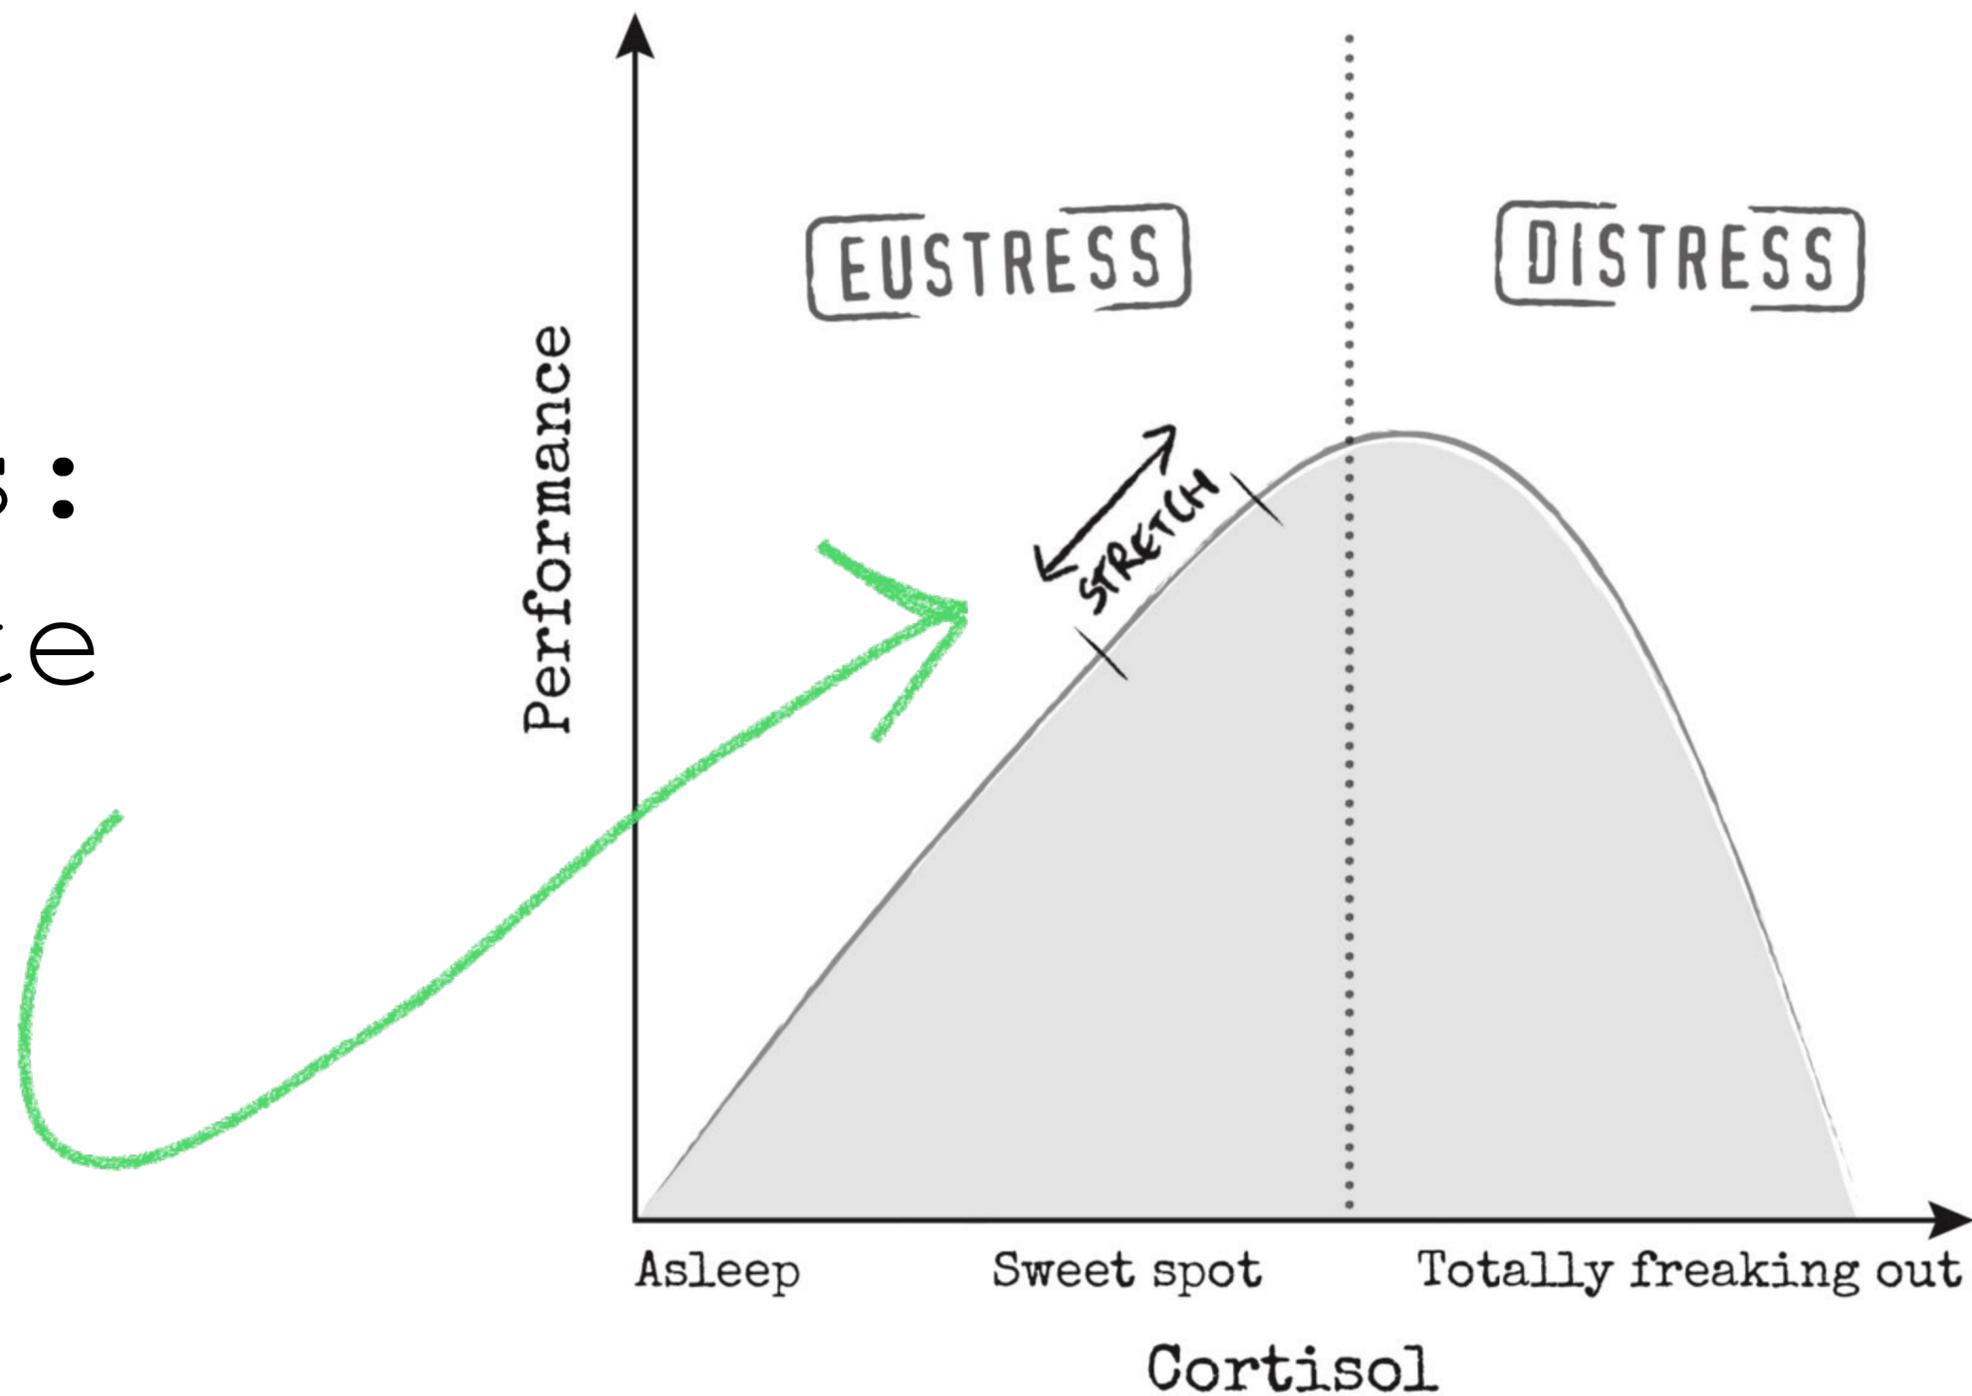

LEAN IN

to discomfort

Try this:
Delegate
HERE

"I'm not a control freak.

It's just better if you do everything
my way"

Try this:

Replace instructions
with information

BE BRAVE ENOUGH TO SUCK AT SOMETHING NEW.

2 years later...

What we think the path
to greatness looks like

What it actually looks like...

(Remember the best learning happens here)

2020

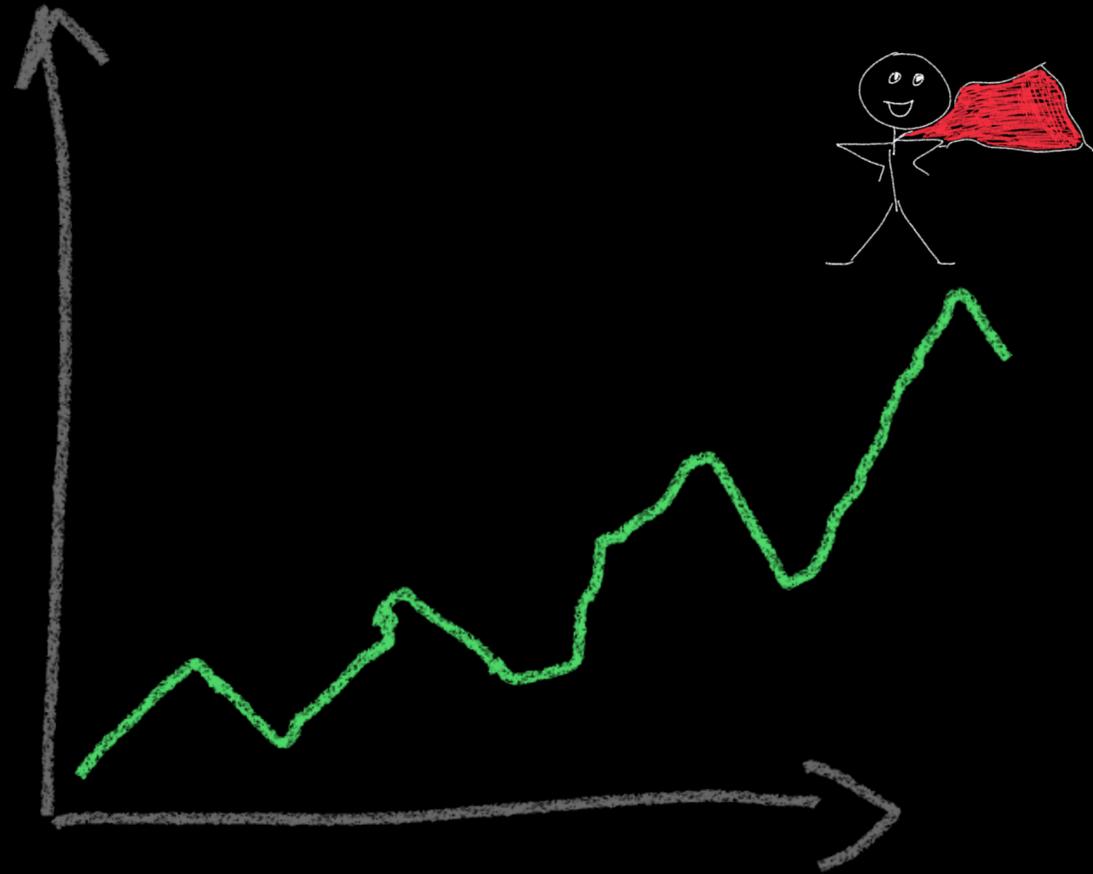

Try this:

Share a mistake you made.

'Well this is awkward'

What the path to greatness looks like to begin with...

What the path looks like when we share our learning...

We bounce back BETTER and STRONGER ...together

Your motherly ways are making me feel guilty. Let's have another talk about your plan to have [REDACTED] replace [REDACTED] a bit earlier.

Giving people permission to challenge you is the highest form of respect.

“Will you grow with me?”

Fear is contagious.

So is courage. 🤝

Key takeaways:

Ask a brave question
Be classy when challenged
Delegate into discomfort
Share your mistakes

Keep in touch!
